

UNIVERSITY OF ZAGREB
ACADEMY OF FINE ARTS

STUDY GUIDE 2009/2010

The Academy of Fine Arts in Zagreb was founded in June 1907 as the Royal National Higher Education for Arts and Crafts, with an established statute and the scientific basis for the lecturers within the Painting, Sculpting and the Department for future teachers of drawing. The first professors were Robert Frangeš Mihanović, Rudolf Valdec, Robert Auer, Oton Iveković, Bela Čikoš Sesija, Menci Clement Crnčić and Branko Šenoa.

The first studios were built according to Herman Bolle's designs. The back building of former National Maternity Hospital was adapted for the purpose of teaching.

The names of the institution were often changed. Since 1941 the official name has been the Academy of Fine Arts in Zagreb.

The Academy is situated in considerably reconstructed and annex buildings at the original location in the courtyard and park on Ilica 85 Street.

The studies are nowadays also performed at the locations on Jabukovac 10, Zamenhoffova 14 and Zagorska 16.

The Chair of Architecture, led by Drago Ibler, was founded at the Academy in 1926 and was active for a short time.

The Department for future teachers of drawing has grown into the Department of Art Education.

In 1956, the Department of Graphic Arts was officially established. It was followed, in 1997, by the Department of Art Restoration (today Department of Art Restoration and Conservation) and in 1998, the Department of Animation (today Department of Animation and New Media), so the Academy today numbers 6 departments and 365 students.

All study programmes performed in the above departments are in accordance with the provisions of the Bologna Process.

Numerous renowned artists and scholars have been active at the Academy, so the history of the Academy of Fine Arts is, in a great deal, a history of the Croatian art of 20th century.

Undergraduate University Study in Painting

Undergraduate 4-year study (8 semesters) - 240 ECTS credits

The 1st year study covers all aspects of drawing, the introduction to painting and mastering of the basic notions of visual arts. It also deals with getting students acquainted with possibilities of using various materials and the reasons for their treatment and choice. The study of head and life drawing is connected to the study of anatomy.

The 2nd year covers a number of logical and related tasks as a transition phase between drawing and painting, at first using the monochrome process, then studying composition, contrast and colour theory and their gradual application. On the 3rd and 4th years, the attention is focused on individual artistic expression and creativity. Students choose a professor to be their class-mentor who helps them to build their artistic profiles. The students of Department of Painting also master the basics of sculpture and graphics, as well as acquire knowledge of Art History and other theoretical subjects. They have possibility to choose from a number of elective courses.

Having completed the Undergraduate study, students obtain the University Bachelor's Degree (baccalaureus/baccalaurea) in Painting.

Students wishing to continue their studies may join the classification procedure to enter the graduate level of studies at the Academy of Fine Arts or some other university study programme, according to the enrolment conditions.

Graduate University Study in Painting

Graduate 1-year study (2 semesters) - 60 ECTS credits

Graduate study encourages development of personal reflections on art and finding their adequate expression through individual mentor approach. Exploration and innovativeness are encouraged and students are being qualified for participating in various projects in the broad field of contemporary artistic creativity.

Through the study, the students adopt an analytical and critical approach. This develops the ability to contextualize individual works of art within the wider historical and current visual art frame.

Students finish the Graduate study preparing and performing a graduation thesis which is the expression of their individual creativity.

Having completed the Graduate study, students obtain the title of MASTER IN PAINTING.

The classes of Undergraduate and Graduate University Studies in Painting are held in classes-studios at the ALU building in Ilica 85.

Undergraduate University Study in Graphic Arts

Undergraduate 4-year study (8 semesters)- 240 ECTS credits

Mastering of drawing skills is the base of the graphic studies in the first year, with the introduction to graphics, life drawing, anatomy and theoretical subjects.

Graphics is the main subject in the second year. Students pursue courses in graphic techniques (deep, high, flat and silk print).

At the beginning of the third year, students have the opportunity to make a choice of professor to be their class-mentor. That professor will introduce them to every expressional and technical possibility of graphic metier, taking into account their personal affinities.

Students of Graphic Arts Department also have to master painting and sculpture basics and they acquire knowledge of Art History as well as other theoretical subjects.

Students of the 3rd year have the opportunity to choose the Course of Applied Graphics.

This course includes all aspects of applied graphic and graphic design, especially the creative researches in the area of visual communications. The programme includes mastering of traditional and contemporary printing and reproduction techniques.

Having completed the Undergraduate study, students obtain the Title of UNIVERSITY BACHELOR (BACCALAUREUS/BACCALAUREA) IN GRAPHICS.

Graduate University Study in Graphics Graduate 1-year study (2 semesters) - 60 ECTS credits

Graduate study provides an expression of individual personality through confident mastering of all drawing procedures and graphic techniques, and openness to new inter-media research.

Through graduate studies the student gains maturity in art, technical excellence and theoretical competence.

The study enables students of analytical evaluation of phenomena in contemporary graphic creativity, as well as critical reflection of their own artistic expression.

Students finish the Graduate study preparing and performing a graduation thesis, which is an expression of their individual creativity.

Having completed the Graduate study, students obtain the title of MASTER IN GRAPHIC ARTS.

The classes are held in classes-studios and graphics studios at the ALU building in Ilica 85.

Undergraduate University Study in Sculpture

Undergraduate 4-year study (8 semesters) - 240 ECTS credits

The study provides a complete education consistent to modern achievements in the area of visual 3D design, based on the technical knowledge and theoretical knowledge allowing students to develop their artistic profiles, according to their inclinations and to the extent of their talents.

It enables the students to perform many collaborator or independent creative visual activities on the basis of technical, technological, theoretical and practical visual art knowledge and insights acquired during the study. Furthermore, the study enables them to communicate on a professional level.

Students of the third year of Undergraduate study can choose the course of Fine Plastic Art and Medal Art. The programme of this course includes study of relief and sculpture up to 40 cm high (medal art, miniatures and multiples).

After finishing the Undergraduate study, students obtain the professional title of UNIVERSITY BACHELOR (BACCALAUREUS/BACCALAUREA) IN SCULPTURE.

Students wishing to continue their studies may join the classification procedure to enter the graduate level of studies at the Academy of Fine Arts or some other university study programme, according to the enrolment conditions.

Graduate University Study in Sculpture

Graduate 1-year study (2 semesters) - 60 ECTS credits

The Graduate study makes students qualified for independent creative visual work, allowing the full development of individual sculpting expression and imagination.

Individual mentor approach encourages expression of personality and innovativeness and the ability of critical reflection.

With the articulation of personal visual ideas and objectives, the study provides consideration of the wider context of contemporary art reality and the role of an artist in society.

The study finishes by producing the diploma thesis, and at the end of the Graduation study students obtain the title of MASTER IN SCULPTURE.

The classes of Undergraduate and Graduate University Studies in Sculpture are held in classes-studios and workshops in the ALU building in Ilica 85.

Undergraduate University Study in Art Education

Undergraduate 3-year study (6 semesters) - 180 ECTS credits

Specificity of Undergraduate University Study in Art Education arises from the fact that the Teaching department educates students who, during their studies, develop both the ability to make observations and to express visually in all media, with responsibility, aesthetic sensitivity, and ability to evaluate fine art works and to form aesthetic taste in children and young people.

This is an interdisciplinary study which combines, besides painting, sculpture and graphics, the extensive program of Art History and art theory, performed in collaboration with the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences. It also includes pedagogical subjects with corresponding practical training.

Having completed the Undergraduate study students obtain the title of UNIVERSITY BACHELOR (BACCALAUREUS/BACCALAUREA) IN ART CULTURE EDUCATION.

Students thus acquire competence for work in educational fields.

Students wishing to continue their studies may join the classification procedure to enter the graduate level of studies at the Academy of Fine Arts or some other university study programme, according to the enrolment conditions.

Graduate University Study in Art Culture Education, direction: pedagogical training

Graduate 2-year study (4 semesters) - 120 ECTS credits

After mastering the basic aspects of all visual disciplines at the undergraduate studies, at the beginning of the graduate studies students choose one of the art areas and a dominant timetable of one of the major professional art courses. Then, guided by the mentor, they begin to build their own artistic personality. The Methodology of Visual Arts and the Methodology of teaching Art History constitute a separate whole.

Theoretical part of the curriculum relating to Art History proceeds according to the programme of Department of Art History at the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences.

Students of Graduate University Study in Art Culture Education, direction: pedagogical training are being educated to become teachers of Art Education in primary schools and also for teachers of Fine Arts in secondary schools and vocational schools. They will be able to detect a fine talent and develop aesthetic skills of others in the process of education.

Art experience and artistic training that are acquired during the study are not only for approval of individual artistic potential, but they also greatly contribute to national, economic, and especially cultural diversity.

After Graduate University study which lasts 4 semesters, students obtain the title of MASTER IN ART CULTURE EDUCATION.

The classes of Undergraduate and Graduate University Studies in Art Education are held in classes-studios and workshops in the ALU facilities in Ilica 85, Jabukovac 10 and at the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences.

Integrated University Undergraduate and Graduate Studies in ART RESTORATION AND CONSERVATION

Department of Art Restoration and Conservation offers art-scientific study which assumes multicultural and multidisciplinary approach. The study is specifically conceived, from the entrance exam to the graduation thesis, as integrated studies of up to 5 years (10 semesters) during which students acquire 300 ECTS credits. The department has two orientations: Painting Restoration and Sculpture Restoration.

The purpose of this study is to educate the experts who will work in restoration and conservation.

The study subjects can be divided into a group of subjects of visual disciplines like Painting, Drawing and Sculpture; a group of subjects of technical and natural sciences, social and humanistic sciences, and subjects from domain of painting restoration, polychrome sculpture, wood, stone, mural painting etc.

During the study process, students develop the visual sensibility and art craft skills; they acquire the theoretical knowledge about the materials, the techniques and technologies, especially the visual arts procedure. Students also master the scientific methodology of work in order to develop the capabilities of solving the complex problems in restoration, as an integral programme with a systematic approach, using the precise research and critical interpretation of the research results.

After completion the study, students obtain the title of MASTER IN ART RESTORATION AND ART CONSERVATION.

The classes are held in facilities of the Academy of Fine Arts in Zamenhoffova 14 and in Jabukovac 10, as well as through the practice of restoration on the works of cultural heritage.

Undergraduate University Study in ANIMATED FILM AND NEW MEDIA

Undergraduate 3-year study (6 semesters)- 180 ECTS credits

The study educates professional and creative students capable to realize projects in Animated film and New Media.

Apart from the theoretical and practical training, the study makes a qualified drawer of shooting script, animator, chief drawer of characters, layout-man, scriptwriter, model-list author (creation of characters and layouts), media artist and director, who can all offer a concurrent creative product in a variable and demanding market.

The study is conceived as a combination of dynamic and intensive workshops (camera, editing, sound recording, blue screen, TAM TAM, film and video lighting, etc.); historical review of experimental film, classical animation and video; collaboration with the outdoor experts and institutions; cooperation with international academies (Metropolitan University of London, Royal College of Art), and theme projects.

The cognitive circles of NEW MEDIA spread toward such creative possibilities and techniques, which have appeared in visual arts in 20th century for the first time (photo-kinetic and electronic art, intermedia, installation, video art, space art, performance, new communication techniques, hologram, internet, visual art border areas etc.). Within these fields, students are being prepared for practical use of one or more traditional and contemporary procedures, that can be artistically evaluated in knowing and understanding the media diversity and their use in visual arts context on both levels, creative and technical.

The whole concept of curriculum is a complementary system of theoretical and practical courses that changes conceptually and constitutively during the study.

The Undergraduate study is a complementary combination of animation and new media courses. This Department is dynamic, and in continuous process of developing, perfecting and upgrading.

After finishing the Undergraduate study, students obtain the title of UNIVERSITY BACHELOR (BACCALAUREUS/BACCALAUREA) IN ANIMATED FILM AND NEW MEDIA.

Students wishing to continue their studies may join the classification procedure to enter the graduate level of studies at the Academy of Fine Arts or some other university study programme, according to the enrolment conditions.

Graduate university Study in Animated Film and New Media

Graduate 2-year study (4 semesters)- 120 ECTS credits

In the Graduate study, students have opportunity to choose the course of ANIMATED FILM or NEW MEDIA. During the Graduate study, students detect their creative individuality through the various types of mentor practices. In the final year, they have to make a complete animated film on their own or a project in New Media as the diploma work.

The Direction of Animated film is of a very practical character, and the students are expected to create their own animated movies with the continuous support of a mentor. During the two years, through consultations and lectures based on current projects of the students, the different aspects of performance of the animated film are covered, from production and creative point of view. By diploma, students will be trained to create their own authoring projects, as well as participate in complex animation productions.

The Direction of New Media is a study programme with an emphasis on three areas: practice, theory, and profession. The course encourages interdisciplinary study and questioning of all forms, from film, photos, videos to performances, through research papers, actions, installations, etc.

The emphasis is on developing critical and independent creativity and contextualization of students' own work through individual consultations. Weekly presentations, group seminars, reading groups, workshops, visiting artists, annual exhibitions, international exchanges, participation in international artistic and research projects, regular tours of exhibitions and meetings with artists and curators make this study highly dynamic and challenging, both for students and Professors.

Completing the Graduation study, students obtain the title of MASTER IN ANIMATED FILM AND NEW MEDIA.

The classes are held in the ALU facilities in Ilica 85 and Zagorska 16.

FIELD CLASSES AND STUDY TRIPS

An essential part of the teaching process, which is not scheduled in the compulsory curriculum, is pursued in the scope of study trips and field classes.

With the assistance of the Croatian Ministry of Culture and the Zagreb City Fund students have been on study trips to Spain, France, Germany, etc. In the past few years they have visited many cities like Paris, London, Venice, Vienna, Amsterdam, Munich, and in this way got acquainted with the most important works of art.

In field classes, students complete their experience acquired by working in the studios of the Academy.

Field classes proceed at the following locations: Vrsar-Montraker (stonecutting); Plemenitaš (wooden sculpture and terracotta); Bjelovar (wooden sculpture); Vinkovci (terracotta); Krk-Vrbnik (graphic workshop); Legrad (landscape painting); Samobor, Dubrovnik (landscape painting and ceramics), Motovun (graphic workshop).

Each year gives a new location or changes existing sites.
